All patients prescribed VYNDAMAX can request support from a Pfizer Patient Access Coordinator (PAC)

A Pfizer PAC is:

- A dedicated patient resource for support throughout the medication access journey
- A primary point of contact for patients and caregivers

Once support is requested, your Pfizer PAC will:

Give you a welcome call to discuss how they will support you

Help you understand your insurance coverage and expected out-of-pocket costs

Answer questions on reimbursement, access, and insurance coverage for your VYNDAMAX prescription

Explain how to get VYNDAMAX from a specialty pharmacy

Provide you (and your caregiver) prompt updates, especially when it's time to complete an action step

What is Medicare?

Medicare is a federal government health insurance program. Medicare differs from private (or “commercial”) insurance because it is run by the government, not private insurance companies.

To qualify for Medicare, you must meet one of the following criteria:

- ✓ Aged 65 years or older
- ✓ Have end-stage renal disease, regardless of age or income
- ✓ Less than 65 years of age and receiving Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) for 24 months
- ✓ Receiving SSDI due to ALS/Lou Gehrig’s disease

The Medicare program has different parts:

A, B, C, and D.¹ This guide focuses on Medicare Part D. To learn more, visit Medicare.gov/basics/get-started-with-medicare

Prescription Drug Coverage

- Medicare Part D helps cover costs of prescription medicines
- You can enroll in a Medicare Part D stand-alone health plan to get your prescription coverage
- You can also enroll in a Medicare Advantage (Medicare Part C) health plan that includes prescription coverage

While Medicare is run by the government, Medicare Part D health plans are managed by private insurance companies. These companies follow the rules set by Medicare. Most people pay monthly premiums and co-pays, or coinsurance, for each prescription. Even a Medicare Advantage plan may include a Part D plan.

Get to know Medicare Part D

There are 3 phases of Medicare Part D coverage: deductible, initial coverage, and catastrophic coverage. During each phase, you will pay your health plan's premium each month. The amount you pay for your medicines depends on which phase of Medicare Part D you are in. These phases apply to all your medicines that are covered by Medicare Part D.

PHASE

Deductible phase

Based on the Medicare Part D health plan you choose, you will be required to pay your health plan's deductible.

Once you have met your deductible, you will move to the initial coverage phase.

Patient pays 100%

Initial coverage phase

You, your health plan, and the medicine manufacturer split the medicine costs. Your part is a co-pay, or coinsurance (most patients pay 25%).

Once you have met the co-pay/coinsurance cap, you will move to the catastrophic coverage phase.

Patient pays 25%Health plan pays 65%Manufacturer pays 10%

Catastrophic coverage phase

In 2026, once you pay $2100 out of pocket (this includes your deductible and co-pay/coinsurance) for all your medicines in the calendar year, you pay $0 for your medicines for the rest of the year.¹

Once you have moved into the catastrophic coverage phase, you will pay $0 for your medicines until January 1 of the next year.

Patient pays 0%Health plan pays 60%Manufacturer pays 20%Medicare pays 20%

The phases of Medicare Part D reset on January 1 of each new benefit year.

Understanding your out-of-pocket costs

$2100 is the out-of-pocket cap for covered Part D medicines in 2026.¹ Once reached, you pay $0 for all of your covered prescription medicines for the rest of the calendar year. This includes your yearly deductible.

With some medicines, you can move through more than one Medicare Part D phase

Medicare Prescription Payment Plan*

You can spread the costs of your prescription medicines over the calendar year

When enrolled, you pay $0 at the pharmacy

The program is voluntary. You can enroll during open enrollment or anytime in the plan year

Your health plan sends you monthly bills for cost-sharing

This program also has a health plan finder and calculator so you can preview monthly costs for medicines, with or without enrolling.

*There is no fee to join the Medicare Prescription Payment Plan. The program does not cover your monthly premium. You need to opt-in to the payment plan before filling your prescription. Please know you may also leave the program any time during the plan year.

What is Medicare Extra Help?

Medicare Extra Help, also called the Medicare Part D Low-Income Subsidy (LIS), pays part of the costs of prescription medicines to lower out-of-pocket costs for eligible Medicare Part D patients who have limited income and resources.

If you qualify for Extra Help, you could lower your out-of-pocket expenses

2026 Extra Help/LIS and Dual Eligible* beneficiary costs[†]

Full LIS Medicare patients pay no more than $12.65
per VYNDAMAX prescription

For more information on Extra Help and other resources that may help with your out-of-pocket costs, visit Medicare.gov/basics/costs/help/drug-costs

*Dual Eligible=patients who have both Medicare and Medicaid.

Find the right health plan during open enrollment, October 15 to December 7, 2025

Open enrollment is a time of year when you can make changes to your Medicare health plan to make sure you have the right coverage for your needs. During open enrollment, check your medicines' coverage.

You should think about:

Whether your medicines are on your health plan's formulary (a list of medicines covered under the health plan)

Potential total out-of-pocket costs, which include:

- Your deductible
- Your health plan premium
- Co-pay/coinsurance for your medicines

Medicare health plan compare

The health plan compare tool on Medicare.gov/plan-compare offers a helpful view of your coverage options.

- 1 When you search for a plan, select the kind of health plan you are looking for (eg, Medicare Advantage, Medicare Part D, Medigap) and choose which programs will help with your costs (eg, Medicaid, Supplemental Security Income)
- 2 Click “Yes” to see drug costs when comparing health plans
- 3 Select the types of pharmacies you usually use to get your medicines, including mail order for specialty pharmacies
- 4 Enter all the prescription medicines you take
- 5 When you go through your health plan options, be sure to click “Plan Details.” These details include your estimated annual premium and estimated monthly medicine costs

Medicare enrollment timeline

Beginning October 1, 2025

- ✓ Check your out-of-pocket or total Medicare costs, and make sure your medicines would be covered
- ✓ If you see your medicine is “not covered,” your doctor can request special approval with a Prior Authorization or Formulary Exception
- ✓ Visit Medicare.gov/plan-compare to enter your prescription medicines and compare your coverage options

October 15 to December 7, 2025—open enrollment

- ✓ This is when you can change your Medicare health plan and/or prescription drug plan for the year beginning on January 1 (if you are new to Medicare or on a Medicare Advantage health plan, you may not be able to change your health plan during open enrollment)

- ⚠ After the open enrollment deadline, you may still be able to change your Medicare health plan. See more at Medicare.gov

January 1, 2026

- ✓ Coverage begins
- ✓ If you changed your health plan, your new health plan starts on this date. If you kept your health plan, any changes or costs related to your plan will start on this date

January 1 to March 31, 2026—Medicare Advantage changes

- ✓ If you are on a Medicare Advantage health plan, you can make changes to your plan or switch back to original Medicare. Any changes you make will start on the first day of the next month (if you are on an original Medicare plan, you cannot make changes to your health plan or join Medicare Advantage during this time)

Commonly asked questions

Premiums, deductibles, and out-of-pocket costs

How do my premium, deductible, and out-of-pocket costs differ?

- Premium: a set amount you pay each period (eg, monthly) for your Medicare Part D health plan
- Deductible: the amount you pay for your prescription drugs before your health plan starts to help pay
- Out-of-pocket costs: any amount that you are paying on your own for your medicines, including your deductible, co-pays, and coinsurance

Is there a Medicare Part D deductible?

Your Medicare Part D plan may or may not have a deductible.

Why do my prescription drug costs vary from month to month, and year to year?

Your out-of-pocket costs could vary each month based on the phase you and your Medicare Part D health plan are in; phases are driven by your spending on Medicare Part D-covered medicines. It is important to review plan choices during the open enrollment period (October 15 through December 7) and consider how your costs may change when deciding to keep, or change, your Medicare Part D health plan.

The Medicare Prescription Payment Plan program allows you to spread the costs of your prescription medicines over the calendar year. The program is voluntary, and you can enroll at any time. When enrolled, you may pay as little as $0 at the pharmacy. Your health plan sends you monthly bills for cost-sharing. This program also has a health plan finder and calculator so you can preview monthly costs for medicines, with or without enrolling.

Q What out-of-pocket costs are included in the amount I pay before moving into catastrophic coverage for Medicare Part D?

A See page 5 for Medicare Part D phase details.
Costs that count toward catastrophic coverage include:

- Your deductible
- Your co-pay/coinsurance during the initial coverage phase

Your monthly premiums, the cost of noncovered medicines, and the cost of covered medicines from pharmacies outside of your health plan's network do not count toward the $2100 out-of-pocket cap before moving into the catastrophic coverage phase.

Co-pays and coinsurance

Q If I'm enrolled in Medicare, can I use manufacturer co-pay savings programs to cover my medicine costs?

A If you are covered under Medicare, you are not eligible for co-pay cards and coupons to pay for your prescription medicines.

Q How does a co-pay differ from coinsurance?

A Co-pays and coinsurance are amounts you pay for prescription medicines after your deductible has been paid. A co-pay is a fixed amount you pay for a medicine you take; coinsurance is a percentage of the total prescription medicine cost, not a fixed amount.

Enrollment and health plan changes

Q Can I remain on my employer-sponsored coverage after I turn 65?

A After you turn 65, you may remain on your current employer health plan. You can delay enrolling in Medicare until the employment ends or the coverage stops (whichever happens first), without any penalties. If your employer has fewer than 20 employees, they may designate Medicare as your primary insurance. This means Medicare would pay first, before your employer health plan. You should always talk to your employer, union, or other benefits administrator before you make changes or sign up for any other health plan. In some cases, joining a Medicare prescription plan could cause you, your spouse, or your dependents to lose your employer or union health coverage, so it is important to understand the rules of your health plan.
